DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Species III, claims 1, 2, 5-19 in the reply filed on 8/31/05 is acknowledged. In response to Applicants' arguments regarding Figure 5 being included within the scope of Species III, it is maintained that the fluid container combination is a distinct species as outlined in the previous action, and therefore claims 20 and 21 will not be included in the grouping of Species III.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1,2,7, 8,14-16, 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Siegrist (GB 2215673 A) in view of Dobbs (5,685,445). Siegrist shows a flow control device, comprising: (a) a cap member (13) having double threads defined on its inner surface, (b) an overcap (1) movably mounted with respect to said cap member, said overcap defining a central opening and including at least one tooth defined on an inner surface thereof, and (c) a ball (11) positioned within said overcap, said ball being sized to obstruct fluid passage through said central opening; wherein a variable flow clearance may be established by movement of said overcap relative to said cap member; wherein the movement is effected in part by rotational motion of the overcap relative to the cap member. Siegrist, however, show that the cap and overcap are engaged via rib and groove (14,15), and does not specifically disclose that said cap member includes a plurality of circumferentially spaced ratchet teeth defined on an inner surface thereof; said at least one tooth being positioned so as to engage said ratchet teeth as said overcap is mounted relative to said cap member. Dobbs teaches a removable closure having a cap having a plurality of circumferentially spaced ratchet teeth (16, 17) having tapered geometry and which are engaged by teeth (26) formed on the inner surface of overcap (24). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to provide the ratcheted closure mechanism taught by Dobbs on the Siegrist closure in order to provide a tamper proof sealing mechanism and prevent inadvertent removal of the closure/top. With respect to claim 2, to provide that the angular distance between the ratchet teeth and the inner surface of the cap is 270° would have been obvious as taught by Dobbs depending upon the torque one wishes to require in order to allow removal of the closure.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 5, 6, 9-13, 17 and 19 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
